For the past two months Pedder's Hill unfortunate youth became exhausted, when where our hard-worked staff drag out an anything but heavenly existence, has been one hideous mass of open drains and foul stinks to which even far-famed Cologne must take second place. Complaints have of whom, with one notable exception, were of been made to remedy this grievance, and of course have been practically ignored. We never had a chance of shoving one of the Sanitary experts down a drain and keeping him there until he was sufficiently white-washed to take his seat in the Celestial choir, or no doubt there would have been a sensational shindy, and, as customary in this colony, the innocent would have suffered. We have written in anguish to the local agents of our landlords (Messrs, David Sassoon, Sons & Co.), and they have done their bestwhich, through no fault of their own, has been next to nothing-; we respectfuly asked the late Hon. THE "Military Mummers." will perform Tom Taylor's popular drama (translated from the French) "The Ticket-of-Leave Man," at the Garrison Theatre on Monday night. Without any doubt whatever the "Mummers" will have a full house, but in our opinion' their latest effort is far too ambitious, either for their available histrionic talent or for such a small theatre, with its necessarily limited scenery and stage effects. Two-act comedies and farces are fairly within the scope of the "Mummers" abilities and theatrical appliances; but a heavy drama like the "Ticket-of-Leave Man " wants a rare lot playing, and it will certainly be a feather in the cap of our Military friends if they pull through successfully. They have our good wishes, however, and if we can possibly manage to witness the performance, it will give us great pleasure to do so, notwithstanding the wise saying of the immortal William's about

"vaulting ambition" etc., etc. MORE law-court business on the table. It currently reported that one of Hongkong's leading sharebrokers intends' prosecuting a suit to recover damages for an alleged slander against an equally well-known commission agent, etc., etc. The trouble, it is hardly necessary to say, is in connection with shares-Watson & Co.'s, in which concern the defendant claims to be highcockalorum or the great Rojeram, or something else very high and mighty. Mr. Inc. J. Francis, Q.C., we understand, has been retained for the plaintiff, so that something quite recherche in the way of cross-examination may confidently be looked for-unless friend defendant takes water, which would probably be his best course. We would wind up this "para" with a Greek quotation, but our shilling quotation book was lent last night to a local senator who was down for a speech at a certain jamboree, and the Ckina Mail has objections to lending us the few sticks of type in the language of ancient Greece they possess, and by which they set such goodly store. It is our misfortune not our fault, so our readers must imagine what we would have said had the quotation book and the ancient characters been available. An American paper, the Philadelphia Inquirer, What has inspired the Turkish Government to spunk up to England and demandthat the latter shall say when she intends to withdraw her troops from Egypt? The Sultan would not do such a thing of his own accord, for it would be a mere waste of energy. He has no power to enforce his demand, and his communication would be chucked into the diplomatic waste paper basket without ceremony. Some other Power has assertion, and that Power is probably France, which has long been jealous of England's occupation of Egypt, and which is now irritated afresh by the fishery dispute. Russia, too, which is preparing for another move on Constantinople, may have a secret hand in feeling between the two countries and so prevent England from coming to Turkey's assistance when the Russian forces begin their march southward. At all events, it is certain that there is more in the demand than meets the eye. Turkey is nominally the suzerain of Egypt and has a right to order the English troops out of that country at any time; but it would not dare to exert the fight unless circumstances were favorable for enforcing it. There is mischief brewing in Europe, and this note to England is one of the surest indications of it.

In glancing through the programme of the "Military Mummers" dramatic entertainment we observe that Mr. J. C. Watson, superintending clerk in the Army Pay Department and a most enthusiastic supporter of the drams, is Vice-President of the Club. A better man for the position could not be found in the Garrison: We also observe that the lady who is set down the coolies standing stupidly by and watching to play that excellent character Mrs. Willoughby, in "The Ticket-of-Leave Man," is described as Mrs. C. EVEN glorious and gorgeous Hongkong can't hold a candle to Melbourne in "bubble" companies, as the following plainly shows:-" The citizens of Melbourne are busily engaged just now in carrying on law suits arising out of the collapse of the land boom there. It is now 10 months since the bubble burst, yet it is said "there is less daylight than ever." Some curious facts have been revealed. A clerk who was getting $15 a week at the office of one of the boomers managed to fail for over $1,500,000. THE nine coolies, caught at Shau-ki-wau, charged with piratically stealing fifty pigs, twenty-five tacks of silver, and a large quantity of clothing on the high seas, were again brought before Mr. Wodehouse at the Police Court this morning, when the wounded sailor of the pirated junk, who was carried into Court, identified one of the prisoners and corroborated the evidence of the captain respecting the number of shots fired into their vessels by the pirates, one of which killed a passsenger. The three prisoners, who confessed to the whole job" on Thursday, to-day repeated their statements, one of them adding that, as they had confessed, there was no necessity for his Worship tofurther trouble the other six prisoners. They again urged that the act having been committed in Chinese territory, it did not concern the British authorities. His Worship, however, dissented from this unique view of the case, maintaining that pirates were the subjects of no nation and the enemies of all. In view of the fact that the evidence was not clear as to six of the prisoners being in possession of the pirated goods, and Inspector Corcoran being unable to convince the Court as to their guilt, his Worship reserved udgment until Wednesday, the 3rd instant. The Chinese authorities have applied for the rendition of the whole gang, and despatched gunboats down the coast to capture the "te-poa of the village where the pirates landed their

THE case against the Chinaman Yeoh Boon Leng for bigamy came on for further hearing at Penang, on the 11th inst. Mr. Adams then submitted that as the Court had evidence neither of Chinese custom nor law before it, the defendant came under the English law. He contended that as he was prepared to prove the defendant had married two wives, it was for him as a British subject to shew that he had a right to contract the second marriage and that egged him on to this astonishing piece of self- it was not void, and asked that the Court might take note of his contention. Mr. Van Someren, for the defence, argued that it was clear from the wording of section 494 of the Penal Code that the onus was on the prosecution to prove that his client was 'liable under that section, or in other words all the essentials, one of which was the business, as a good way to create ill- that the nullity of the second marriage must be proved before he could be held to come under the section referred to. Mr. Justice Wood held that the onus of proof was on the prosecution, and under the circumstances directed the jury to return a verdict of not guilty, which was accordingly done and the prisoner was discharged:

the cast, with the object of striking the two lodes which are believed to exist and which our shaft is between. During the sinking promising indications were met in the nature of the soil and stone passed through, and on the table will be seen specimens taken from a stratum quartz. Mr. Aylesbury expresses the bellef, that a very short level will be required to reach the lode. This level was being driven and had attained a length of 20 feet when further progress was brought to an abrupt termination by a sudden and heavy flow of water which filled the shaft. On receipt of the telegram announcing this unexpected misfortune, Mr. William Warren, a mining engineer of great experience, was consulted, and the following extract from his letter will acquaint you with his opinion as to the mishap and, also, the proximity of the level to the lode:-"Herewith I have the honour to submit one plan and two sections which I have prepared of the Company's mines from data furnished by the Secretary. From these it will be evident to anyone that, judging from the appearance of the new shaft and cross-cut. the prospects of the Company seem highly favourable, if the figures submitted by the local manager are to be relied upon, and no accidents should happen to prevent or delay the rapid progress which has recently been made. The probable lode seems to be within measurable distance for cross cutting, some 14 feet only apparently remaining to reach the foot wall of the lode. With regard to the sudden accession of water, which is reported to have broken through and filled the shaft, and thus suspended operations, this is of course a misfortune, but is probably by no means a serious matter, or the difficulties to overcome greater than are the usual experiences in similar Cornish and other mines. A powerful pump will perhaps necessary, but probably not specially largeone with a plunger of say o to xo inches diameter by 3 to 4 feet stroke would in all likelihood rapidly reduce the water to a normal flow. Your Directors are very much indebted to Mr. Warren for the above expression of opinion and for the very complete detail plans of the Company's mines which are on the table, and which will no doubt be examined by you with much interest. We are now awaiting further particulars as to what is required at the mine and on receipt of the information, steps will be immediately taken to send whateve may be needed, and in all probability our local Dock Company will be able in the short space of a month to supply our wants. The telegram received on the 20th inst. to the effect that rock had been met all over the west level was considered a satisfactory indication that favorable ground was come upon, and this view is con firmed by the manager in a letter received vesterday. With regard to machinery, your Directors see no rea on to alter their previous decision to delay the purchase of a plant until the character of the ore to be treated is known.

may state, however, that much information as to the different processes adopted and kind of machinery now in use, has been obtained by sence in England of Mr. J. Orange was availed. of to request him to examine the various methods in vogue in that country of treating tin ore. He went thoroughly into the matter in Cornwall, also in Sydney, and his valuable and full report is in the possession of the Company. In the report issued to shareholders under date of 7th Nov. last, it is stated the Company had prospecting permits over 300 acres at Ulu Rambatan and a similar area at Blanda Mabuk. The former was abandoned after prospecting and finding no indications of tin, but the permit for the latter (Blanda Mabuk) has been continued and active work is going on. The Perak Government Gazette of 25th July, reports that "the fine specimens of tin and silver and lead ore which were found sometime back in the alluvial workings at the upper part of the Blanda Mabul valley have now been traced to their source,' the ore being identical in every respect with that found in the alluvial. Specimens of rock were found containing 500 oz. of silver to the ton of rock. Your Directors believe the Company has a property at this place which may prove very valuable, and they are encouraged by the discoveries made in the immediate vicinity to test the work of the ground over which a permit is held. With regard to Kinta, the lates advices report an out-crop 6 to 7 feet wide in the middle of our concession, which is being tested Our property is surrounded by other companies showing the neighbourhood to be highly valued. Kinta is noted for its richness in tin, ranking next to Larut, which has hitherto exported the largest quantity of metal. In conclusion would read the following paragraph from the Perak Government Gazette of 25th July. It is especially satisfactory as shewing the estimation in which the Company and its Selama property are held by the Government:-" The year under review has been remarkable for the attention given to lode mining. The Selama Tin Mining Company, undeterred by the want of success of the Hongkong and Shanghai Tin Mining Company, from the ruins of which it has sprung, has subscribed a large capital to thoroughly test the value of the Selama tin lode, and their work is new being prosecuted with much energy. The state is certainly indebted to the promoters and shareholders of this venture and it is to be hoped that they will meet with the success they deserve. All those who have visited Sclama and can speak with authority, maintain the existence of a valuable tin lode, but opinions differ as to the direction it takes and the best way of getting at it." This, gentlemen, is all the information I have to lay before you to-day. I have carefully refrained from giving you any exaggerated idea of the value of your property, as that walte has still to be proved. It is not unreasonable, however, to expect that your hopes or fears, as the case may be, will be realized within the next few months, and you may rely that whether the news be good or had it will be immediately: circulated. I confess that, to me at any rate, it is a disappoint. ment that during my short tenure of office as Chairman of the Company I am unable to meet you with any more definite news. Mauds, but'a town band also; and the natives of this great empire being human, although Chinese, it is also natural that they should require a garden to suit their Oriental tastes,... A good deal has lately been done towards supplying this want. Not only have a few strips of lawn and gravel walks made their appearance on one bank of the Soochow Creek, but spacious grounds, known as the Great Chinese Garden. have been laid out some four miles lower down the river bank, by Chinese, mainly for Chinese. Here there are not only walks, pavilions, queer little bridges and characteristically. Chinese ponds, but even a menagerie, albeit small. Now, however, all these glories have been surpassed by "The Garden" which the adventurous traveller will find by following the course of the Bubbling' Well Road nearly to the Well itself. "The Garden" is a remarkable testimony to the spirit of the times in Shanghai. Chinese, not content with other commercial speculations on foreign lines, have become amusement-caterers for their own kind and for the men from across the seas. Whether any of them will display on a small scale the organising genius of a Whiteley or the catering capabilities of a Bertram remains to be $31,039.94 seen. The proprietors of the new pleasure grounds, which have been open since July 21st, are the partners in a large oplum-shop, known as the Ya Yuen, in the French Concession. They have already spent Tls. 70,000 in providing the present accommodation for Chinese visitors, and will very shortly increase this outlay with the purpose of attracting foreigners, for whose benefit billiard and bowling saloons will be erected, commencing next mouth.

Already the following legend, profusely ornamented with full-stops, appears over the main entrance:-"The Garden. Dealer. in. all.

kinds, teas, f. fancy, goods, pastry, and, bildiards.

rooms." It is also intended that foreigners should be able to procure a good dinner prepared in the foreign manner, and that they should be able to witness native "sing-songs," whatever may be covered by that far-reaching term.

Occidentals, however, will not be able to taste of these delights for some time yet, probably two or three months; but if they wish to see there is nothing to prevent their doing so now.

neighbour; and if he be of a sportive turn of mind, he may indulge in a little at-jui, or cups

The gardens, exclusive of the buildings they contain, are of small extent and are only marked by bridges, ponds, and rockeries of the usual Chinese style. The main pagoda is extremely well fitted up, and contains some specimens of furniture which are worth a visit. The designers have not forgotten a "joss-place" where visitors can burn a candle to bring them good luck, on the first and fifteenth days of the moon for choice. This "joss-place" has a curiously ornamented roof. All the pavilions, in fact, are well furnished. In some the presence of mirrors is considered to be a mistake, from the proprietors' point of view. It is well known that the drinking of samshu produces redness of the face and other parts of the body; and it has been found that a samshu drinker, noticing his red face in a looking-glass, becomes alarmed at the unwonted spectacle and is afraid to drink any more. Hence the determination of the proprietors to replace mirrors by pictures. But to those Westerners who are not accustomed to regard Chinese as dirt, but rather as representatives of an ancient civilisation, the gardens themselves are less interesting than their frequenters; and in this spirit the observant foreigner may with advantage
